OTHER MARRIAGES

Margaret Shelton. Born June 12, 1875, Midway, daughter of John and Mary Morton Shelton.

Margaret was the fourth child of a family of five; Mary Jane, Elizabeth, John Jr., Margaret and Stephen. Margaret was just five years of age when the little family was deprived of their mother, who passed away in February of 1880 at Wanship.

Margaret found a welcome home with Aunt Polly Fausett, a half sister to John Shelton. She lived with Aunt Polly until 15 years of age, and then felt the necessity of providing for herself. However, she visited and stayed with Aunt Polly whenever circumstances permitted.

She worked as a housekeeper for three dollars a week at Park City, planning successfully until enough money was saved to complete a dressmaking course, thus making it possible for her to earn her living as a seamstress.

After her marriage to James Kinsey of Park City, they made their home at Park City for the following ten years where the husband worked as a carpenter and mill employee.

In 1911 they sold their home in Park City and purchased a home and farm in Midway. Here they found complete happiness and contentment.

Happily entwined in the years of being a wonderful mother was twenty-two years as a Primary worker and thirty-five years as a Relief Society worker. She taught her boys to pray and to attend to their church duties.

Sadness came to the little Kinsey family. On May 18, 1916, James went to California to work on a tunnel contract he had taken from Walker Brothers of Salt Lake City. His contract was successfully finished, and he was proud and eager to return home to obtain a larger contract and take more men back with him. Suddenly he was taken ill and rushed to the hospital at Petrola, California, where he died.

Being left with a small family, ranging in ages from one to thirteen it was necessary for all to work together, and they did. The boys found whatever work they could befitting their ages. Margaret took in washing but this proved to be strenuous. So she turned to nursing and helping in many homes when new babies arrived.

She enjoyed composing poetry and reciting poems. She had a good memory to tell stories to her relatives and friends.

Singing was one of her hobbies, she and her husband enjoyed singing in the ward choir. A very special hobby was collecting and composing poetry. She spent many evenings telling stories and experiences to her little family of boys, the stories always having a special lesson and moral.

Children of James Kinsey and Margaret Shelton:

James Floyd, married Viola Giles;
Burton, married Lola Sellers;
John Stephen, married Olive Brown;
Alvin Draycott, married Lola Thor[illegible]
